

A Slack Team For Tritium

July 25, 2017

- Problem: During Argon, important message sometimes lost in high-volume on Hangouts
- Solution: Slack!

- Browser access + mobile app
- Independent channels (general, random, daq, etc.)
- Discussion Threads!
- giphy integration
- editable messages!
